

A high-contrast, black and white photograph showing a dense, textured surface. The image is heavily speckled with bright white spots against a dark background, suggesting a microscopic view of a material or a close-up of a rough surface. The texture appears granular and irregular, with many small, bright, irregular shapes scattered throughout the dark field. The overall effect is one of extreme contrast and detail.

FIG. 4A